16.- Written in Red: A Cyberpunk Anthology (2013) by Peter David 17.- Final Flight (2013) by Tom Jolly 10.- These number by Shawn and Corina together make it possible for Corina to play Noughts and Crosses without any computer. She usually gets her results about four games out of ten 11.- A day to remember (an anniversary and a final day) by Shannon Messenger. It's the day they had fallen in love (twenty-seven years ago). They are now married, have two children and live in a small town in Michigan. 12.- Last Leaf by Donna Gaines. A sequel to her bestseller, Blossom, and the complete story. 13.- Dolcis by Heather Duffelink and Mark Sefton. It's the tale of an adopted boy from Vancouver who is shipped off to Nova Scotia in his youth and who is adopted by a family in the town of Dolcis. They will change their name. The story is going to be published in May 2014. 14.- My Perfect Husband by William C. Dietz. In this story the main character, William has just broken up with his girlfriend. He is sitting in his trailer home, in Seattle, when suddenly a gorgeous blonde woman walks up and knocks on his door. This is the start of the story. 15.- Shadow and Bone by Leigh Bardugo. This book has lots of characters but the main one is the heroine, Alina Starkov. She's a girl with no money, no love and no family. But she has a talent and that is: she can kill with her feet. She must try to survive in a country where half of the people want to kill her and the other half wish they were her. It's the story of Alina's rise to power and her quest to find out why she is so special and why she must kill people for a living. 16.- It's not often that I like science fiction. It's normally that kind of books that I find really dull. But somehow, I just found this story great. The story, "Don't put it down!" is about a couple of scientists working together on the finest robot on the planet. The robot is called Nomula and is built as a weapon. It was designed as a robot to work for others and to become an assassin, but the people at the top of the organisation don't want that. But the robot is programmed 82157476af
